

When you print these three sheets; the First on green, the second on blue and the third on red paper, and then put them on a stack, you can push a pin through the center.

When—after you have done this—you cut the circles along the lines, you will see the rims of the blue and red disk, and can turn the disks independently to find your way in connecting the question to the marked chapters.

shapes - mother - war - cancer - ego - who am I? ↕ - needs - judgement - creativity - order - language - music - gravity - drugs - loneliness - truth - dimensions - diversity - memory - - -

I. No fear

No fear gives joy of life, which seems to be - as a result of acceptance of self and others - leading to a world of chaos and uncertainty, but one in which everyone is different, a life of pure creativity as a process. Now death is a gradual transition! Welcome unconditional love, chaos and creativity!

II. Acceptation

III. Chaos

IV. Playing your own tune

V. No confirmation

VI. No imitation

VII. Only creativity

VIII. Release

IX. Process

X. The unimaginable